POLICE FEEL THAT 'FATAL' DEAD-END IS AMPLY MARKED

Seven Signs Give Warning Between Turn-Off and

SPEED IS BLAMED

Seven Accidents in 61/2 Months, With One Killed, 11 Injured

LANGHORNE, July 17 - State police at the barracks here have released figures dealing with the number of accidents and the fatalities at the dead-end of what is referred to as the "super-highway" This dead-end is located just east of Langhorne borough, and is the end of the four-lane highway which branches off of the Lincoln highway west of Parkland.

In the past 61/2 months, there have been seven accidents involving eight cars at this spot. In the seven accidents, 11 persons were injured and one killed. Property damage amounted to an estimated $4,650. The last fatal accident to occur there was Saturday morning. July 7th, and the last fatality prior to then was in November.

This section of roadway is not the direct route to Trenton, N. J., and New York, N. Y., as the Lincoln highway bears right west of Parkland, and signs so indicate. Ample warning signs are displayed, and police are of the opinion that the highway is well-marked. Large signs are displayed at the intersection of the super-highway with the Lincoln highway west of Parkland. One reads "Keep right", indicating the direction of the Lincoln highway. It is also indicated in large letters that the route to the right leads to New York. Another sign with an arrow points left to Langhorne.

If, however, a motorist continues to bear left instead of right, he has ADAM'S APPLE VERY ample warning before reaching the "fatal" dead-end. Signs start several hundred feet before he reaches the cinder pile at the dead-end into which so many motorists have plowed. The first sign measures about four feet square and reads "Slow"; a hundred feet beyond is a sign indicating junction of Penna. Route 213, with arrow showing that this route crosses; another hundred feet beyond is a sign, five feet square, reading "Dead End 500 Feet Ahead"; then 150 feet from the dead-end is a sign saying "Stop Sign Ahead"; and at the end of the route is the usual "Stop" sign.

Most department store owners are more anxious to work out an easier payment plan, with their cus tomers experiencing a stretch of bad luck, than to reclaim used merchandise, Now, however, they customer to fulfill, a degrading obligation forced on them by the government. It amounts to an oath that you are not lying about a death a payment on furniture, household in the family or a long sickness of that you are unemployed because your job has vanished owing to de fense demands of materials that once flowed to your workshop. This one looks as if it came right out of the Kremlin.

"George Washington Slept Here" is On Trevose Bill

TREVOSE, July 17 - Trevose Summer Theatre, Philmont avenue at Street road, will present for the fifth week of its 1951 summer season the popular comedy "George Washington Slept Here," opening on Monday, July 23rd.

The familiar comedy couple, of Mr. and Mrs. Fuller, newly transported from the comforts of New York to the inconveniences of a broken-down Bucks County farmhouse, are played by a pair of Trevose favorites, Harvey Weisman and Veronica Sweeney. Adrian Lanser plays the pompous old faker, Uncle Stanley, and the gloomy caretaker, Mr. Kimbor, is portrayed by Ted Fortik. The supporting cast includes Gloria Dabov, George Lawson, Elaine Axilbund, Patricia Gleeson, Patricia Culhane and Robert McClements.

Performances are every night in the week except Sunday.

Today's Quiet Moment

By Herman H. Doh, Pastor Andalusia Baptist Church

Dear Heavenly Father, through the Lord Jesus we come to Thee and to Thy throne of grace, where we might learn to be still. Day by day may we remember how necessary it is to take time to be separate from the world; from self and its energy, and be entirely alone in Thy presence. May we pause for the moment of silent worship that brings peace and rest to the soul. Amen.
